

Sharon and Chris Noble toast their success at the Tastes of Lincolnshire awards after their business The Windmill Restaurant at Burgh le Marsh won Best Restaurant. SKS1878.

Windmill is voted as best restaurant

ECSTATIC was how the owners Sharon and Chris Noble from the Windmill Restaurant at Burgh le Marsh felt when they discovered they had won the Best Restaurant Tastes of Lincolnshire Award on Monday.

They have only been at the restaurant for nine months and have already established an excellent reputation.

They are no strangers to awards, having won two Tastes of Lincolnshire awards when they had the New Plough Inn at Covenham.

The couple pride themselves on using local produce which is what the Tastes of Lincolnshire awards are all about.

Lydia Rusling of Tastes of Lincolnshire said: "As we judge the awards via a mystery shopper visit we know winners offer an excellent visit from start to finish.

"They are knowledgeable about the Lincolnshire produce, take pride in showcasing the county's food and offer an excellent, friendly service to all."
